

I just want to say that I believe the Sinclair Corporation has the right to air whatever it chooses as long as it is within the laws of our country. It is a matter of free speech and expression. Why is it alright for artists and bands to express and become critical and not permit others to do the same. Everyone has their own platform and I think we need to either permit all to express their opinions, support or critical remarks or none at all. This is the United States of America, the country who believes in freedom. Let's be free and stop all this juvenile talk "Let us speak our mind, but not them". I cannot even believe this is an issue the FCC has to deal with. It is elementary if one would just read the Constitution and Bill of Rights.
